

Civic Engagement Lunch Talk: “Supporting the Needs of Immigrant- Origin Students to Foster Civic Engagement: A Participatory Action Research Project”

Utilizing a strengths-based perspective, we will explore the ways in which immigrant-origin youth respond to discrimination and how this might impact their developmental experiences.

This presentation will highlight the contributions of immigrant-origin youth to their families and communities as well as the ways in which they conceptualize and engage in resistance to social inequality.

IPCE is committed to transforming democracy by creating a more fully engaged community with more effective leaders. For disability accommodation or more information, email Norma Ramos at neramos@uic.edu or call (312) 355-0088.

Dalal Katsiaficas, PhD
Department of Educational Psychology
College of Education

CUPPA Hall
Conference Room 418
412 S. Peoria St.

Wednesday, November 14, 2018
12:00 p.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Institute for Policy and Civic Engagement